DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 12/20/2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 4,978,025 to Fougères. See Fig. 6

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1, 7 and 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over European Patent Application No. 0 630 822 to Etesse and European Patent Application No. 0 258 679 to Berthelsen et al. and Fougeres.

Etesse discloses the claimed device except for the handle having a reinforcing structure and the first and second sidewalls being heat sealed to one another in a heat-sealed region surrounding the handle. Berthelsen et al. discloses that it is known in the art to provide a reinforcing structure adjacent an analogous handle. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the handle of Etesse with the reinforcing structure of Berthelsen et al. in order to increase the tear resistance of the handle. Moreover, Berthelsen et al. discloses that it is known in the art to heat seal the first and second sidewalls in the area of the handle. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the handle of Etesse with heat seal between the first and second sidewalls in the area of the handle, as taught by Berthelsen et al., in order to optimize the utilization of the material used for the manufacture of the bag. Furthermore, Etesse discloses the claimed device, as discussed above, except for the major axis of the oblong-shaped handle being parallel to the vertical centerline of the bag. Fougeres discloses that it is known in the art to provide a handle having an oblong shape with its major axis parallel to the vertical centerline of an analogous bag. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the oblong-shaped handle of Etesse such that its major axis is parallel to the vertical centerline, as taught by Fougères, since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art.

6. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Etesse, Berthelsen et al. and Fougères, as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Japanese Patent No. 3-226460 to Toshiji Shimamoto.

Etesse, Berthelsen et al. and Fougères disclose the claimed device, as discussed above, except for the hand hole having a ring positioned therein. Toshiji Shimamoto discloses that it is known in the art to provide a ring with the hand hole of an analogous bag. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the hand hole of Etesse with the ring of Toshiji Shimamoto, in order to reinforce the hand hole.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 6, 7 and 10-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

8. The declaration under 37 CFR § 1.132, filed 12/20/2006 has been considered, but is not deemed sufficient to overcome the anticipation of claim 1 by Fougères.

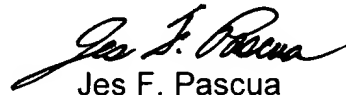

Conclusion

9. Applicant is duly reminded that a complete response must satisfy the requirements of 37 C.F. R. 1.111, including: "The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references. A general allegation that the claims "define a patentable invention" without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section. Moreover, "The prompt development of a clear Issue requires that the replies of the applicant meet the objections to and rejections of the claims." Applicant should also specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See MPEP 2163.06 II(A), MPEP 2163.06 and MPEP 714.02. The "disclosure" includes the claims, the specification and the drawings.
